League Faces Serious Crisis in Probable Withdrawal of Two Nations From Activity.

PRESIDENT SENDS
BRAZIL NOTICE

Stronger Union of American Nations Seen in Action of South American Country.

BY HENRY WOOD.

Geneva, June 10.—(AP)—Brazil has made good her threat to resign from the League of Nations council and Spain has delivered a similar threat to withdraw if she is not given a permanent council seat.

The league again faces a serious crisis. It is confronted with such possibilities as complete withdrawal of Brazil and Spain from the league, a stronger union of American nations and a body blow at its prestige as an international organization.

Brazil's resignation from the council was contained in a message from President Bernardes at Rio De Janeiro. A hint of similar action by the Madrid government from Querubin, the Spanish delegate, had preceded its receipt.

The council adjourned Thursday night without taking action on the Brazilian resignation. It was insisted that Brazil would remain a member of the council until the September assembly acted.

Following receipt of the Bernardes cable, Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, said that he believed no irreparable step had been taken and that there was still hope of satisfactory solution. Other leaders were frank in saying that Brazil's decision seemed irrevocable. It is not believed, however, that Brazil has definitely decided to resign from the league unless an American nation receives a permanent seat on the council.

Spain Acts.

Senor Querubin, who is substituting for Quinones De Leon due to the latter's "diplomatic absence," gave the session its first startling news of the day. Spain, he said, would not accept any solution of the league council crisis which would place Spain in a second class ranking among the nations of the world.

Paul Boncour, of France, asked at once if Spain was hinting that she would vacate her seat and demanded an explanation. Querubin replied that he had said all he was authorized to say and that no explanation would be forthcoming unless he received instructions from Madrid.

The leading delegates on the council showed marked agitation over the threat of Spain. Chamberlain said that while he wouldn't insist on an explanation he hoped the entire council and the assembly would work for Spain's continued collaboration as a league member. It would be regrettable, he said, if any nation accepted the fact that it could not be given a permanent council seat as meaning that such a nation was placed in a different class from others.

Mello Franco, Brazilian representative who did not attend the first sessions of the council on the plea of illness, previously had said that Brazil had refrained from withdrawing from the present session that no hindrance might be placed in the way of the meeting's success. In September, he said, the Brazilian delegation could be more effective without interruption of the league's work.

Columbus Reply.

The reply from Columbus is the latest to be received here. It assures Brazil of Colombia's unlimited support for the Brazilian delegate's conduct at Geneva. The replies from Argentina and Chile have not been made.

YOUNG REPUBLICAN HELD IN ATTACK
In Face at League Meeting

Geneva, June 10.—(AP)—"This is for an awakened Hungary," shouted Ivan De Justh, a young Hungarian republican, today, as towering above Count Stefan Bethlen, the Hungarian premier, in the lobby of the League of Nations palace, he brought his right hand with vigorous swing across the premier's face.

Count Bethlen was just stepping out of a meeting of the subcommittee of the council which voted virtually to release Hungary from the league's financial control when he met with the unexpected attack. The premier seemed dazed and staggered back and immediately those near at hand surrounded his assailant, who was put under arrest.

De Justh, a fashionably dressed youth, declared that he had assaulted the premier because Count Bethlen did not properly represent Hungary. He wished to give a public demonstration of Bethlen's unworthiness.

This is the first time the League of Nations palace has been the scene of a criminal or political attack.

Subsequently appearing at the council session, Count Bethlen, who was downcast, murmured a speech of thanks for the league's effort in the reconstruction of Hungary; he paid special tribute to Jeremiah Smith of Boston, the league commissioner for Hungary, for his great capacity and his great sympathy for the Hungarian people.

Then, surrounded by police, the Hungarian premier hurried out of the league building to his hotel. He refused to make any comment regarding the attack. His assailant presumably will be expelled from Switzerland.

Federal Influence in Case of Atlantans.

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—Justice department officials today disclaimed any intention of postponing unduly the imprisonment of Winfield and Neufeld Jones, convicted of violation of the prohibition law.

To end the meeting adopted a resolution for appointment of a committee of 10 to study the steel and other industries and decide on a plan for the cotton industry.

Half of the committee will be named by W. B. McColl, president of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, and half by James P. Gossett, head of the American Cotton Manufacturers' association.

The idea that nationalism should replace sectionalism in the industry was advanced today with the receipt of a telegram by United States Marshal George W. Collier from Attorney General Sargent.

"Keep Jones brothers out of Atlanta until word from me," the telegram from the attorney general read. Marshal Collier and United States Attorney W. W. Woodcock declined to amplify the brief wire. The Jones brothers were to have been entrained for Atlanta within a few days. Mr. Woodcock has just received the court's telegram from United States supreme court denying them a new trial. They have been in jail here since sentence was imposed by Federal Judge Cooper on September 15, 1925.

The Alabama lodge was reported to have been charged recently with violation of the prohibition laws.

Big News Events Always Show
The Constitution's Supremacy

The fight between Stribling and Berlenbach last night was talked about for weeks, and interest in its outcome spread, like ripples on a pond, until it came to be mentioned in nearly every conversation.

Even though they heard the results last night, the first thing that thousands in Atlanta and suburbs thought of this morning was to read the details of the fight in The Constitution. They were so interested they could not wait half a day to read some other paper.

The Constitution is ALWAYS first with a full account of a big news event of any kind. That is what makes The Constitution supreme in its field, and is one of the reasons why it goes every day into more homes in Atlanta and suburbs than any other Atlanta paper.

New York, June 10.—(AP)—Leaders of the cotton manufacturing industry at a meeting today took steps toward the organization of the industry on a national scale.

Hotels Turn

Around Cairo Seek Night's Lodging.

In Arabia Sheik Lazarus and Sheik Elder J. Temberfeld, of Cairo, own herds of camels. Their lands stretch acres upon acres across Sahara's dunes. Their word is law out there. A goodly part of the species passing through the sunny streets of Cairo belong to them. Their myrrh, frankincense and silks are transported in bales to their Arabian tents upon endless caravan of camels.

Yet last night in Atlanta, neither Sheik Lazarus nor Sheik Temberfeld could find a place for one night's lodging at a single Atlanta hotel on which they called.

To some dozen hotel clerks, as the Arabians applied at one caravansary after another, the visitors explained: "They were sheiks. They had come here to help a friend who is in trouble." But the hotel clerks laughed. Sheiks? Did they mean they were heroes of some motion picture film? Sheiks? No, no lodging here—no sheiks with bi-c'k skins!

In vain Sheik Lazarus from Arabia argued, "Back in Arabia," said Sheik Lazarus, "we do not turn away a man because of his color. Back in Arabia a man is a man, whatever his skin."

"You keep me out because of my color?" remonstrated Sheik Elder. "I can't help my color. I am a gentleman. I speak five different languages."

Yet not one of these five languages was understood by the hotel clerks in raising the point. Mr. Rhodes cited the case where he had two automobiles of the same make and size in Atlanta and in Colorado Springs. The Colorado Springs

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—Senator George Wharton Pepper's unsuccessful race for renomination cost his backers $306,295 in western Pennsylvania alone. W. L. Mellon, nephew of Secretary Mellon and director of his campaign, told the senate primary investigating committee Thursday night.

Mellon explained that this figure represents the cost in Pittsburgh and 30 western counties, leaving approximately two-thirds of the state unaccounted for, so that the ultimate figure will be vastly increased.

Exceeds Pinchot Sums.

This compares with approximately $200,000 spent by Governor Pinchot in the three-cornered race that was won by William S. Vare, whose expenses have not yet been reported.

The Mellons will undertake to make up the deficit of $30,000 with some outside assistance.

"We have underwritten the campaign," Mellon told the committee.

Early in the campaign he gathered a group of wealthy men at the Duquesne club at Pittsburgh and told them that between $200,000 and $300,000 would be needed.

His father, John L. Brannon, was a wholesale lumber merchant, the vice president of a bank and a former president of the chamber of commerce. His son was said recently to have been in ill health.

Expenditure Limitation.

The expenditures reported by Mellon were used in the campaign for Pepper, Fisher, the candidate for governor, and others on the ticket. Senator La Follette, Wisconsin progressive republican, called attention to the fact that Mellon may be chosen this week as chairman of the Pennsylvania state committee.

"In that event, would you favor limiting expenses in the campaign to elect the ticket?" La Follette asked. "That is a matter to be decided on by necessity," replied Mellon.

"Would you spend whatever is necessary?" La Follette asked.

"I regard that as an impossible question to answer," Mellon replied.

"After listening to the testimony, I would be inclined to agree with you," La Follette retorted curtly.

Votes Will Be Contested.

Recording that will of the people was costly in the last Pennsylvania primaries and was accompanied by considerable sleight-of-hand work, the senator campaign fund investigating committee was told Wednesday.

It was told that in Allegheny county, including Pittsburgh, the forces behind the senatorial candidates of William S. Vare and George Wharton Pepper spent nearly $500,000 for

Two-Year Hunt Is Ended With Man's Arrest in Chicago

BY RALPH T. JONES.
"When Greek meets Greek— You know the rest."

But, when Greek runs away from Greek and, what is more, carries with him $500,000 worth of hard-earned property of his deserted Athenian brother, the answer is nothing short of inevitable nemesis.

Tom Billiards, Greek, was convicted at Warren, Ohio, for violation of the Mann Act and sentenced to two years in the Atlanta penitentiary. He received his sentence on December 11, 1923, and was promptly ordered deported by the local immigration office. However, he had important domestic business to wind up before bidding a last adieu to Uncle Sam. There was another Greek, likewise a sneak of the federal prison here, put up $500 in Liberty bonds as security for his friend's return. The obliging friend was Gus Vardas. Technically, the bondsman was the Greek secretary of the local Greek association because a convict cannot act as bondsman, but the Liberty bonds put up as security were the property of Vardas, it is claimed.

Billiards Vanishes.

Billedaire jumped his bond and went to Detroit, Mich., assumed the name of Bill Edwards and took up an alias, and contracted a common law marriage there, although he was understood already to have one legal wife and one common-law wife somewhere in the country.

But Gus Vardas and his brother, Charlie, who weren't going to allow $500 to slip away as easily as that. They secured an extension of time on forfeiture of the bond and set out to hunt Billiards.

Not until May 24 of this year were

ROSENBLUM GIVEN TERM FOR FORGERY

they able to report to the immigration director here, M. A. Cokendall, that they had located Billiards as a frequenter of a coffee shop in Chicago.

Tracked to Earth.

Inasmuch as Billiards had made many friends in Chicago underworld, and was known in Chicago, killing reputation, Vardas asked if he had to apprehend the fugitive himself.

The Chicago federal authorities were communicated with, and on Thursday a radiogram informed the Atlanta immigration officer that Billiards was under arrest. The necessary deportation order, identification papers, and other documents left Atlanta for Chicago Thursday night and Billiards soon will be en route to sunny Greece.

And, as soon as he asks for it, Vardas will receive his reward, the capstone in the return of his $500 in Liberty bonds.

It is understood that to capture his man and get back the $500, Vardas spent something over $3,000 in the two-year chase.

Mrs. Rebecca Latimer Felton, State's 'Grand Old Woman,' Honored on 91st Birthday Here

Mrs. Rebecca Latimer Felton, with Mrs. Fannie K. Guy, who presided at Mrs. Felton's 91st birthday dinner here Thursday.

Mrs. Rebecca Latimer Felton, the first woman to serve as a member of the United States senate and a prominent figure in Georgia's political life for more than 60 years, celebrated her 91st birthday in Atlanta Thursday. The celebration was staged at the Atlanta Woman's club at 12:30 o'clock and assembled more than 30 prominent Atlantans, most of whom are close friends of the noted Georgia woman.

Mrs. Felton finished the most interesting feature of the entertainment program when she played several piano selections, taken from an old album, yellowed with age, which she used when a girl of 16. She played her own variations of the old song, "Why, No One To Love Me?" and "The Lark Ascending." The "Song of the Waltz," "Arabian Traveler," and "Old Dog Tray."

At the conclusion of another simple melody, which she played often in her girlhood, she remarked that "Joe Cannon" liked that one.

Cannon "Only Ninety."

"When I was in Washington with my husband during his last term in congress 50 years ago I played it for Joe Cannon—and he liked it. Joe is younger than I am. He's only ninety."

Mrs. Felton played and sang Lord Byron's tribute "To Thomas Moore," among other songs, which she read from the frayed old album.

This "grand old woman of Georgia" has been identified with the progress of the state for many years. Fifty years ago she took the stump for her husband when he ran for the senatorial election, and the regency of Mrs. Frances E. Willard. Mrs. Felton was a speaker for prohibition.

Mrs. Felton joined the Methodist church when she was 16 years old and is the oldest member of the Cartersville church today. She is devoutly religious and active in all affairs of her church.

In October, 1922, Mrs. Felton was

United States senator for one day. She was appointed by Governor Thomas W. Hardwick and was officially seated. Senator Walter F. George succeeded her.

Enjoys Good Health.

Despite her advanced age, Mrs. Felton enjoys good health and takes an active interest in affairs of state and nation.

She is also interested in the events visiting the Centennial celebration at Philadelphia in 1876 with her husband, the late Dr. William H. Felton.

She was born in DeKalb county,

Georgia, near the present site of Atlanta, which is then known as Marietta.

Mrs. Felton represents four wars—the Mexican war, the civil war, the Spanish-American war and the world war.

The birthday party was presided over by Mrs. Lauri K. Guy, close friend of Mrs. Felton, and Mrs. Lynch and Miss Callie Irvin acted as hosts.

Among prominent guests were Mrs. Walter A. Sims, who is in the absence of the mayor, who is in New York; Mr. and Mrs. James E. Nevin, Mrs. John Paschal, Lucian Lamar Kuit and Charlie B. Irvin, of Conyers, Ga.

Georgia Power Reservoirs Nearly Full Despite Drouth Conditions, Arkwright Says

Southeastern States Already Experiencing Benefit of Coordination of Power Systems, He Adds

Despite the fact that northeast Georgia is passing through one of the driest periods in history, reservoirs of the Georgia Railway and Power company on the Tallulah river are practically full, and there is a sufficient water supply for the power company. This is the result of coordinating power stations in Georgia and Alabama, which permitted the Georgia Railway and Power company to use its own reservoirs of the past winter and spring, he said.

Rainfall for this year on the sheds of the power company in northeast Georgia has been 20 per cent below normal, according to Mr. Arkwright, who declared that present coordination of the Georgia and Alabama companies is saving the situation not only for this section, but for Alabama, South Carolina and North Carolina.

The statement follows:

Drouth Conditions.

"In Greenville, S. C., they are holding power company meetings for rain."

"In Georgia, too, it has been very dry. The rainfall for this year to date on the water sheds of the power company in northeast Georgia is 20 per cent below normal."

"However, the reservoirs on the Tallulah river are practically full, whereas, as far as certain recent arrangements, they would be practically empty."

"This happy condition of full reservoirs is the result of coordinating the power stations in Georgia and Alabama, as a natural consequence of the recently acquired control of the stock of the two companies by Southeastern Power and Light company. Not only has this company a large amount of electric power supply for Georgia, but it is enabling these associated companies to release to a large extent the menace of power shortage in South Carolina and North Carolina."

"The Southeastern Power company, under a temporary arrangement, is taking day to day, is taking whatever water power is available at Muscle Shoals. This, together with its own water power developments and its ample steam stations, has enabled it to supply large quantities of power to Georgia Railway and Power company."

Rainfall Conserved.

"On account of this, the Georgia Railway and Power company was able to close its reservoirs and conserve the winter and spring rains. For the last several weeks and now, the Georgia Railway and Power company has been supplying a large amount of power to the power companies of the Southern Power company for service in South Carolina and North Carolina. This power has been delivered to the Georgia Railway and Power company by the Atlanta Power company and the Columbus Power company. In this way the Southern Power company has been supplied, and industries in South Carolina and North Carolina kept operating through coordination of the power supply and the interconnection of the transmission systems in Georgia and Alabama."

The report cited the attendance of students in the various university departments totaling 5,790. Of this number 203 are Negroes. Of these 1,000 are enrolled as follows: Graduate school, 95; Franklin college, 380; College of Science and Engineering, 616; College of Agriculture, 556, and 2,699 courses with summer school.

"Not the least important element in bringing this condition about has been the power obtained from Muscle Shoals."

"It is a demonstration of the economy and great usefulness to the territory brought about by the coordination of the power resources of the territory and the availability of the electric power companies to serve a wide area of the southern states. It is saving the situation at the present time in Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina."

The statement follows:

New Transmission Circuit.

"The interconnection of transmission systems and coordination of the power resources of the territory, the use of Muscle Shoals power in connection with such system, enable the entire developed power resources of river and reservoir, of the Alabama coal fields and the Tennessee river system to be used."

Among the other phases of university life mentioned by the chancellor was the recognition of the service rendered by the institution during the year by Chancellor Emeritus David C. Baldwin.

He approved Dean R. C. Wilson's recommendation that the school of pharmacy inaugurate a four-year course in line with the school's high standing in the state, and he pointed out that the library had been enlarged and is bringing into general use over the territory the economically-located steam-generating stations at the mouths of the coal mines in Alabama.

The following faculty changes were made:

Appointment of M. W. Melton in- structor of chemistry; Professor C. J. Brockman to associate professorship; and A. W. Scott to full professorship; appointment of Professor William Wade as substitute for Dr. John D. Wade in English. Dr. Wade has been elected to a year's secretaryship of the Guggenheim foundation.

Promotion of Professor M. D. Dibosa to full professor and that Professors Ralph Thaxton and Claude Chance be made adjunct professors in the school of law.

Appointment of Professor John E. Drewry to associate, and appointment of John D. Allen as instructor in school of journalism.

TRUSTEES TO ACT ON CHANCELLORSHIP

Atlanta's New Judge

Athens, Ga., June 10.—(Special) The general board of trustees of the University of Georgia are expected to elect a permanent chancellor to succeed David C. Barrow Friday.

The 125th commencement of the university begins Sunday and during the exercises 233 students, the largest class in the institution's history, will receive degrees. Principal speakers during the exercises will be Bishop Warren A. Candler and Sanders Daniel, of Atlanta.

Growth of the university in all departments was commented on by Acting Chancellor Charles M. Snelling in the annual report made to the board of trustees today.

STINGING INDICTMENT.

The excessive automobile insurance rates charged in Atlanta as against the rates on the same machines and values in other cities, as concretely demonstrated in a statement of Ernest L. Rhodes in Thursday's Constitution, has brought from local insurance men an explanation which is plausible,
and which, at the same token,
is the most stinging indictment against law enforcement, and against notoriously existing inefficiency in property protection against thieves, and in eliminating the hazards of traffic violations that has ever been made.The situation as developed by the fact, and its explanation, is one that should arouse the citizens as never before to their duty in militantly wringing from our governmental departments the elements of petty politics that are breaking down morale, impairing usefulness, and costing the people enormous and inexcusable inefficiency fees, which not only add seriously to the burdens of taxation, but create a condition that alarmingly affects general economic welfare.Mr. Rhodes made the statement that a new car recently insured by him in Atlanta cost a premium fee of $113.77, whereas another car of the same make and value, insured
for the same amount at the same time in Colorado Springs, cost only a premium of $74.50. This enormous difference is so startling, and involves such an enormous tax
upon the thousands of car owners that would be unnecessary if we had the same protective efficiency in Atlanta as in other cities, that the publication of the facts has naturally caused little less than a sensation.In explanation Mr. Betty places the blame for this situation exactly where it belongs—to the higher loss ratio in Atlanta, to the greater automobile exposure hazard, and to the traffic hazard which is greater in the Atlanta zone than in most zones.All of which indicts enforcement!"More automobiles are stolen in this section than in most cities in America," he says. Why? There is only one explanation—inefficiency
of the protection of property against thieves. He almost makes the indictment that "in many cases where personal injury cases are brought before the courts and juries the amounts of damages are measured by the amounts of insurance carried by the defendant—
faulty endeavors to make traffic pay the freight."The situation is a serious one—just as is serious the relating situation as to our increasing fire rates in Atlanta.The trouble is petty politics that involve our police department, fire department, and other departments of city government, destroying maximum usefulness, and causing the people enormous tolls in indirect taxation, as well as unwar-necessary losses of lives and limbs.It is time for an aroused public conscience that may strike at an evil that is doing enormous injury to citizens, and to Atlanta, and its good name as a whole.

AN IMPORTANT LINK.

On June 16 the state highway
board will conduct a public hearing in Atlanta on the question of admitting that section of the Piedmont Air Line highway from Buford to Atlanta, along the Southern railroad, into the state system.This proposal is that the road between Buford and Atlanta via Norcross and Duluth—which is now extensively used and by every good reason should long ago have been a part of the system—be made one of the new allocations under the primary plan.gral of 800 additional miles made by the 1925 legislature. Hearings have been conducted in various sections of the state on other proposals, all of which no doubt are of general importance.There are so many unchallenge-able reasons why the great highway coming down the Piedmont ridge through Virginia and the Carolinas and through Toccoa, Cornelia, Gainesville and Buford—paralleling the main Washington-Atlanta rail line—should continue on into Atlanta by the same parallel, thereby relieving the congestion from the highway via Lawrenceville, that it is not believed possible the board can turn a deaf ear to this proposed short addition to the state mileage. It is one of the most important road links in Georgia and the surprise is that it was not incorporated in the original state road system as adopted in 1921.

THE CROSSING MENACE.

In statistics recently made public
it is found that while railway accidents are on the decline in the country at large grade crossing accidents are alarmingly increasing.The responsibility for the latter rests to a large extent with motorists. There is no argument as to that, and "stop" laws, and other measures enacted in the hope of control, do not seem to meet the situation. Nothing will, indeed, except grade crossing elimination, and while progress is being made in this respect, in Georgia especially,
it must be admitted that it will be many years before the entire elimination of crossings in the country can possibly be hoped for, if ever.Throughout the United States the number of passengers killed in accidents at grade crossings has increased from 15 to 16 in two months of this year as compared with the same months of last year,
while the number of employees
killed at other places than highway crossings declined from 314 to 261, and the number of trespassers killed at places other than highway crossings declined from 348 to 321.On the other hand, the number of persons killed at highway crossings increased from 258 to 344, or 33 per cent.Executives of railroads point out that there would have been a gratifying reduction in the number of fatalities on the railroads but for this increase in those occurring at highway crossings. About 85 per cent of all the fatal accidents at highway crossings occur to motorists who take undue risks.With regard to the agitation for the elimination of highway crossings, it is obvious that one trouble is new highway crossings at grade with the railroads, which are constantly being opened in all parts of the country by public authorities.Statistics show that in the four years ending with 1924 the railways eliminated 3,240 grade crossings at a probable cost of almost $250,000,000. In these same four years, however, the number of high way grade crossings increased from 237,837 to 242,807, because more than 8,000 new highway grade crossings were opened.The thing most needed is better education of motorists regarding the dangers at highway crossings, and passage and enforcement of laws which will compel them to act with more regard for their own safety and that of others. The laws we have are teethless.

KEEP PRIMARIES CLEAN.

The investigation of the campaign expenditures in the recent Pennsylvania republican senatorial primary may lead to revelations almost if not entirely as repulsive as those in the Newberry scandal in Michigan a few years ago.If the very bottom of the whole situation—unwholesome even by admission—is conscientiously sought by the probes, the result may be a strengthening of our senatorial primary system, which is now admittedly in dispute, but only by the manner in which it is abused.If the corrupt practices law means anything it means that violation of it was most flagrant by the sworn expense accounts of some of the Pennsylvania candidates, one of whom at least is supposed to be an exponent of moral reforms—from politics to prohibition.The law specifically states the maximum that a candidate for the senate may spend in a primary campaign, and it either means what it says, without the expediency of "beating the devil around the bush,"
or it ought to be stricken from the statutes with an admission that our primary system is rotten to the core, and should stay rotten in the interest of those who can win by bribe.Reform is needed, or the primary system is either doomed or good government in America is in jeopardy.
We hold no brief for either Vare, Pepper or Pinchot. Their individual policies regarding national issues do not enter into it, and so far as this discussion goes they are three of a kind until the investigations prove who, if any, have been guilty of political corruption.The opportunity for corrupt practice is more apparent in primaries than in old convention nominations, and yet the primaries are supposed to offer that popular system of selecting public servants that the convention did not offer. Hence the urgent necessity for keeping the primary clean.Just From Georgia

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

New York June 10.—When we were little boys, the policeman was our natural enemy. Whenever we could play him a trick, it was promptly done. The only time of the year when we could effectively punish him was in winter when snow was on the ground. We worked for hours preparing the ammunition to bombard him when he came along and it was ever said, that contrary to the rules of civilized warfare, some of our fellows put little stones inside the snowballs.

I recollect the answer till this day
although it was made many years ago. "If you can't beat the English than you better get back where you came from fellow."

Of course there are extenuating circumstances. The policeman is often confronted with rough work. They are thrown into contact with people and with things of which they have not the slightest conception, after all they are a rule not highly trained in politeness or manners and much can be forgiven.

I had always thought this a mere childish state of mind, to be left behind when we put off the things that are childish, but apparently not.
Recently I saw the arrival of Whitmore, the bandit, and I was surprised that people look upon the police in a hostile way and are ready to cheer a fellow who seems a desperado, without regard to human life
or property.

The policeman is scowled at and shunned at and, I think, if he did not carry a stick and other warlike implements he would often be the victim of mob anger.

The policeman is partly to blame for this. There are general exceptions of course, fine upstanding fellows, who are anxious to please and be polite, but my experience from the first day I set foot in New York till today are not pleasant insofar as policemen are concerned.

Congress Passes
Bill To Expedite
Claims Payment

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.

Washington, June 10.—Congress has taken a load off its shoulders and given justice to thousands of citizens who bring claims against the government every year for damages they have incurred through some federal agency.

What accompanied this in a bill passed on Thursday by the house, which last night was agreed to in the Senate by a vote of 55 to 30. The bill makes the heart of the bill, that what the government will have to do is to pay the claim within 60 days of

Mr. Talmadge, the author of the bill,

$100,000,000 a year.

Mr. Talmadge, a former member of

Doctrines of Socialism Preached by Brookhart Arouses Storm of Protest

Business Men in Iowa
May Support Claude R.
Porter, Democrat, in Fall Elections.

My Lease to The Constitution and
The Chicago Tribune
Cedar Rapids, Iowa, June 10.—Smith W. Brookhart's gauge of battle against the republicans of Iowa, when he tossed down in his speech before the State Federation of Labor at Mason City last night when he preached socialist doctrines and advocated that returns on investment be limited by law to 5 per cent, is likely to be accepted.

His speech has aroused a storm of protest from business men and bankers throughout the state and suggestions have been made that republican leaders appear before the state committee at its meeting at Des Moines, Saturday, and demand that it repudiate Brookhart and all that he stands for.

The committee is to meet to discuss the recent primary in which Brookhart was nominated over the opposition of 11,000 members and to arrange a state convention. Republican leaders in this section of the state believe that the committee would do the party a great service if it would flat-footedly denounce the candidate and his platform.

Peas for Porter.

It was unreservedly agreed in republican circles here that Brookhart had definitely aligned himself with the socialists and that if Iowa expected to acquit itself in the eyes of the nation she would support Claude R. Porter, the democratic nominee for your vitality. Purify your entire system by taking a thorough course of Calotabs—once or twice a week for several weeks—and see how Nature rewards you with health.

means. Labor itself undoubtedly will not stand for Brookhart's advocacy of downright socialism as embodied in his Mason City suggestion that capital, by law, should be limited to a return of 5 per cent. What would capitalistic doctrine ever be formally approved by legislation? Where would big factories go, and what would the large employers of labor do?

And where would be the millions of men and women now employed in industries that would cease functioning immediately if compelled to operate under such a socialistic law as Brookhart proposed?"

Predict Bad Effect.

Business men predicted that Brookhart's speech would have a bad effect in the east, especially on farm managers, and that this might be responsible for the 5 per cent. continued.

Here in this city, Brookhart's speech has made a decidedly unfavorable impression. Yesterday old-time republicans who voted up against him two Mondays ago were inclined to accept the majority of the republicans in the state and support him in the November election. Now they predict that the same opposition that placed Dan in the Senate will feel strong enough to vote for anything Brookhart advocates.

A prominent republican had this to say:

"Surely Iowa cannot fail to comprehend what Brookhart's platform is. It was unreservedly agreed in republican circles here that Brookhart's speech would definitely align congressmen from the east against any farm measures the west might want because these congressmen would fear to vote for anything Brookhart advocates."

'NO ALIBI,' SAYS 'PA'

New York, June 10.—(By the Associated Press)—"Pa" Stribling, father, manager and second of William L. (Young) Stribling, said he had no excuses to offer for the defeat of the Georgia challenger by Paul Berlenbach tonight. Although some spectators at the ringside believed the southerner's holding tactics in the last ten rounds might have been due to an injured hand, "Pa" said his son had not complained of any injury.

"His wife's illness may have affected him," said the parent-pilot. "He was 'dead on his feet' and his showing was a great disappointment to me."

"Pa" Stribling, mother and trainer of William L., who looked silently on during the one-sided 15-round event, joined her husband in expressing disappointment, but said she had no excuses for his reverse.

Stribling's Showing Big Disappointment, Says Robert Edgren

After Making Splendid Start, Young Georgian Fails To Stand Fast Pace Set by Champion—Body Blows Driven in by Berlenbach Hurt Challenger.

BY ROBERT EDREN.

Yankee Stadium, New York, June 10. (Special)—Paul Berlenbach whipped Young Stribling here tonight in a tame fight and retained his right to Berlenbach's chin. The champion pion reeled a trifle, and, although he pressed in, he seemed slow and unable to land his blows. Again, hit hard on the chin at the beginning of the next round, Berlenbach looked slow for a moment. But from that time on it was all Berlenbach's fight. Perhaps Stribling lost heart when he landed his best punches and found Paul walking calmly in, paying no attention to them, not even changing expression.

In the eighth round Berlenbach clipped Stribling on the side of the head with a left hook. Stribling tried to jump back, crossed his leg and sat down heavily. He jumped up. His wind was all right. He didn't tire, and he took many hard punches in spite of his efforts to cover up.

In the ninth Stribling caught Paul around the neck with his left and hooked him hard on the jaw with his right but the blow only made Berlenbach grin.

Indeed the end it looked as if Stribling was looking for a chance to get in one blow, to sneak over a knockout. But his punches went around Paul's neck. In the fourteenth he wrestled Paul to the ropes and pushed him through, so that he fell on the edge of the platform outside.

Mixup in Starting Time Brings Ousting Of Barnes, Kirkwood

Two American Pros Protest Vigorously But Are Ignored By Officials—Gadd Wins Tourney With Score of 296—Mehlhorn Ties For Second.

Formby, England, June 10.—Abrupt disqualification of two American professionals, Jim Barnes and Joe Kirkwood, because they were late for their starting times in the North of England championship golf tournament, has caused an unpleasant commotion in golfing circles.

The Americans protested vigorously, and the incident is being discussed even more than the victory of George Gadd, of Roehampton, who limped through the final round with a dislocated bone in his foot.

Gadd Wins Tourney.

Barnes and Kirkwood did not answer when the starter called their names, and after 15 minutes were automatically disqualified under the rules. They insisted upon playing their present, and neither approached the excellent score turned in by Gadd, who averaged 74, broke the course record and had an aggregate of 296, three strokes lower than his nearest competitor.

After completing his third round, the new champion slipped on the cobbles steps and dislocated a bone in his foot. Although the pain was great, Gadd bade a doctor bind up his foot and set out on the final round, playing 77 steps in injury and a troublesome wind and rain.

Bill Mehlhorn, of Chicago, was tied for second with an aggregate of 299. E. R. Whitcombe had the same score. Al Watrous, the American pro, was late for his third round, had a total of 302. Walter Hagen took 304. Cyril Walker 308, and Emmet French 314.

III. Fight Board Adopts New Rules

Chicago, June 10. (UPI)—Rules under which legalized boxing will be conducted in Illinois have been drafted and will be revealed to the public within ten days. O. W. Huncke, chairman of the state athletic commission, announced the news.

None of the commissioners would say when they expected to grant the first license, or name the time for the first contest.

Miss Mann Weds Kenneth L. Aikens At Church Ceremony

A marriage of much interest to a wide circle of friends was that of Miss Mary Elizabeth Mann and Kenneth Louis Aikens of Brunswick, which was solemnized Wednesday evening, June 1, at St. Luke's Episcopal church, Rev. N. R. H. Moore officiating.

There were no relatives and only the immediate relatives of the bride at the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Louis Bernard Mann. She was lovely in a costume of boîte de soie crepe with accessories to match. Her corsage was a bouquet of orchids and vallis illinoiensis in effect.

SLAMS AND SALAMAS

by Louise Dooly

SOME DANCERS do not Charles-ton; some women do not smoke; and there are a few American communities which will not have this year a summer season of music.

On the other hand, there are publicity letters from three "operaistic" sources. St. Louis puts forward its outdoor light opera, 12 weeks of it in the open-air theater of its beautiful Forest Park, paying subscription it is. A "little extra" is the announcement of the San Carlo company for a week of grand opera in August. Atlanta provides the important news that its light opera season will have the advantage this year of a theater suited in size to the character of such production.

Next to the letters lies the Musical Digest, with a front page story of Westchester, and the annual three-day festival of music at Valhalla (an appropriate setting for heroic deeds in music!), which, if you please, was

7 ENTER SENATE CONTEST IN OHIO

Amusements

At the Forsyth.

"No Other Girl," the initial offering of Don Lanning and his musical comedy company which opened Monday night at the Forsyth, is proving to be one of the most acceptable bits of entertainment given local audiences in some time. Mr. Lanning makes an instantaneous hit in the part of Ananias Jones, a "promoter" in a Quaker village, who happens to be one of the leading lights in the community. Miss Sena Thomas plays the part attractively, while Ruth Tester, ingenue, offers some good dancing and a few songs. Fred Bragman and Milton Reick are other members of the cast who score. The Harmony Four provides some excellent song specialties.

Loew's Grand.

"Monsieur Beaucaire," featuring the handsome Rudolph Valentino, is the screen attraction at the West End theater. Rudolph is at his best in this stirring picturization of Booth Tarkington's novel of the days of Louis XV.

Famous for its fashions and fads, the court life of this day furnishes the most colorful subjects for a film starring this actor. The views and the evils of the age are also graphically portrayed and the film is historically accurate, as well as containing a love theme woven in it in a most pleasing manner.

81 Theater.

In the John Murray Anderson production, "Venice in Greenwich Village," appear several girls who have previously dazzled audiences with their beauty in recent editions of Mr. Anderson's own "Greenwich Village Follies." Heading the cast is no less a celebrity than Fay Lamphier, who is making her first appearance in this new play. Her new play is interesting and she is supported by an able company, which includes Andrew Leigh and George W. Park. Other stars on the Loew bill are Edwards and Ross, continuing the Caesar and Kandy dancing revue; Frank and Ted Sabini company in a musical skit, and the Dallas trio, comedy acrobats. "The Barrier" is the Loew picture.

The Metropolitan.

The showing at the Metropolitan theater this week of "Mlle. Modiste," the picture version of Victor Herbin's famous operetta, starring Corinne Griffith, brings to mind that the late composer is included in that piece.

"Kiss Me Again," undeniably his favorite, is in "Mlle. Modiste." Other favorites are "Want You," "Want When I Want It" and "Teach Me to Smile." The operetta as a whole is a sparkling work and has been highly praised by music critics in every country.

A additional picture is a considerably more detailed story than that of the musical piece, the opportunity of the song hits is still present. Enrico Leide has arranged a musical score comprising all the "Mlle. Modiste" numbers to accompany the picture. Adolph Sabini and three other young men compose a piano quartet which is meeting with approval. An "Our Gang" comedy is included in the bill.

Nellie Sullivan.

(At Woman's Club.) A half hundred of Atlanta's cleverest young damsels will display the latest and most brilliant of dance steps and the most graceful of classic and period dances at the annual revue to be staged by the Nellie Sullivan school of dance arts at the Atlanta Woman's Club auditorium tonight. A concert orchestra will play for the dancing.

MUELLER ATTACKS VON HINDENBURG

Spain and Brazil
Send Large Body
To Catholic Meet

Berlin, June 10.—(P)—The reichstag was in an uproar today when the subject of President von Hindenburg's letter declaring against confiscation of the former ruler's property aroused the wrath of the socialists. They abandoned the reserve with which the presidential office has heretofore treated and openly criticized the action of the president.

Charging the president with "giving up the neutrality which he solemnly promised to observe in the internal political and international questions of the socialists, through former Chancellor Hermann Mueller, declared: "This constitutes a violation of the non-participation incumbent upon the president by virtue of his office."

The socialists, who particularly noted that the president had designed the proposed confiscation measure as an infringement on the principles of justice and morality, and sought by many historical examples to show that the former rulers themselves had violated justice and morality by their decisions.

President von Hindenburg's letter was addressed to Count Frederick von Leibell, monarchist leader. Von Hindenburg characterized the proposed seizure of the property of the former German Emperor and other Prussian rulers as "an attack on the constitutional foundations of the state and a violation of the fundamental laws of morals and justice."

In his speech in the reichstag today, Dr. Mueller asked: "Is it right for the government to tax 12,000,000 citizens without a lawless and immoral act?" Is it right for the president thus to offend millions of his own people?"

Concluding his speech angrily, the former Chancellor exclaimed: "The social democratic party here openly protests against the partisanship of the president and urges the voters to participate in the referendum so that public sway may triumph over princes and nobles."

The excitement and noise increased as Chancellor Marx, in behalf of the government, stated there was no reason to object to President von Hindenburg's letter.

With the reichstag was engaged in an acrimonious debate, the Prussian diet was the scene of even wilder exchanges, necessitating the temporary closing of the session. The communists did not speak, for they protest by abstaining. President von Hindenburg, as an oath breaker and his attitude as shameless.

Sparta Offices Enlarged.

Sparta, Ga., June 10.—(P)—To prevent the spread of the thunderous weevil, the department of agriculture today announced tentative regulations restricting the movement of cotton and cotton products, as well as other materials capable of carrying the pest, into the infested area of Arizona or through any other part of the country.

In inviting suggestions before recommending the tentative regulations to the secretary of agriculture for approval, the federal horticultural board which recently held a hearing on the subject, said it desired to make final recommendation not later than June 25.

The department's announcement said the regulations were drafted "primarily to apply to the area which it is infested, as indicated by the secretary as infested, in the belief that state cooperation will make it possible to limit them to such area. Failure on the part of the state, however, to establish an intransate quarantine will necessitate the enforcement of the restrictions of the federal quarantine and regulations to the entire state of Arizona."

BURIAL IN WISCONSIN FOR MRS. A. E. BOLCOM

Bainbridge, Ga., June 10.—(Special)—The body of Mrs. Addie E. Bolcom, 73, who died Tuesday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Z. H. Subers, after a lingering illness, was taken Wednesday to Milwaukee, Wis., for burial. Surviving is one daughter, Mrs. Subers, and two sons, Charles, Bolcom, Detroit, Mich., all of whom, with a grandson, Innes of Bainbridge, will attend the funeral. Mr. Bolcom can be here about 13 years ago from Wisconsin and has been prominent in religious and civic affairs.

MISS GARESS WORKED AT BASE HOSPITAL

Authorities at Base Hospital No. 48 admitted that a Miss Nellie Z. Garess at one time was employed there, but declined to give any information further than that she was "no longer in government service." They refused to say in what capacity Miss Garess was employed or how long it had been since she worked at the hospital, although admitting this information was in their records.

GEORGIAN SOVIET LEADER IS SLAIN BY COUNTRYMAN

Paris, June 10.—(P)—The Georgian leader, M. Veshapeli, editor of the New Georgia, was assassinated in Paris today. A man left the law court where he was attacked by a fellow countryman and shot. He died soon after being removed to a hospital.

Veshapeli was once a national deputy of Georgia, the Georgian socialist soviet republic. He, however, was later believed to have repudiated the nationalist cause. Today he attended the first hearing of a trial to determine the responsibility for a skirmish in the Latin quarters of Paris last summer between pro-soviet Georgians and countrymen.

His assailant, Arphandil by name, was arrested. He told the police that he had sought Veshapeli for a year in Germany in order to kill him, and informed of his presence in Paris.

"I consider Veshapeli as the murderer of my family and a renegade," said Arphandil.

STRIKERS ASSAIL LEADERS OF UNION

James Is Largest Harvard Honors Owner of Railroad Two Army Heroes Stock in America

London, June 10.—While the British government continues its investigation of funds sent to striking English miners from soviet Russia, a group of the strikers themselves have lodged a public protest against trade union leaders, who they claim place "political ambition and revolutionary projects ahead of industrial welfare."

In a manifesto issued at Nottinghamshire Thursday, miners in the Mansfield district, one of the wealthiest of the miners' union branches, said:

"Our trade union machinery is in the hands of men who place political ambition and revolutionary projects ahead of our industrial welfare. We don't want to go back to work or terms that degrade us, but we are certainly not the reason could prevail if we could get from the industry what it can afford to pay."

In an approval of district wage agreements, the Nottinghamshire miners directly opposed the insistence of A. J. Cook, secretary of the miners' union, for a national wage agreement.

"We are bitterly opposed to having taken from us the right to say whether we shall work or not," they said.

CHURCH DRAMA BODY ORGANIZED IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, June 10.—(AP)—The Church and Drama association, which will work for higher standards in the theater, was organized tonight at a dinner attended by prominent clergymen, dramatists, producers, actors, editors and journalists.

The aim of the organization is "to work for wider appreciation and support of dramatic art as a creative force and to seek its employment for educational, moral and spiritual ends."

The speakers included Bishop Manning, Otto H. Kahn, W. H. Hays, Chamberlain, Pollock and the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman.

NEW YORKER ROBBED OF $15,000 IN BALTIMORE

Baltimore, Md., June 10.—(AP)—Michael Funicello, of New York city, reported to police tonight that he had been attacked in his room on the sixteenth floor of the Hotel Emerson by three armed men late today, robbed of $15,000. Shortly afterward, a man who identified himself as Edward Kimball, 32, of New York city, was arrested on suspicion. Funicello was able to furnish the police with a complete description of the trio.

Morristown, Tenn., was being mentioned as the probable place of meeting of the three men, who are known as the "road to the farm" movement, Governor Walker declared.

William B. Hinman was killed in an explosion off the coast of Ireland when an American U-boat sent a torpedo into the boat bearing a company of United States Marines, which included a member of Hinman's enlisted in the marine corps in 1917 with other Harvard students. He was born in Atlanta, receiving his earlier education at the public schools and Marist college. From there he went to Seminary, where after three years he entered Harvard. At Seminary and Harvard Mr. Hinman formed strong friendships and was recognized by the faculties as a young man of high ability and promise.

Harry M. Atkinson, Jr., was one of the most outstanding members of the class of 1915 at the Massachusetts college. His record in scholarship during each of his four years there showed those brilliant qualities of mind which forecasted for his career a brilliant future in the field of social and political usefulness to mankind. Among his fellow students in undergraduate life he was naturally attracted around him a group of strong and manly associates who were chosen by their classmates to direct undergraduate affairs at Harvard. An admirer of team sports, he played football under Percy Haughton, the most famous of the Crimson's long line of fighting coaches, and in his senior year was awarded the varsity "A" as an honor from Fox for $400, the witness said. The Valley Dairy company, a subsidiary of the Nestle Food company, was declared to have paid $31,000 between the summer of 1924 and December, 1925, and the payments of another western company, unnamed by the witness, was given as $20,000.

Canceled checks covering the $105,000 were offered in evidence over the opposition of the defense counsel.

That a large proportion of the "commissions" paid on western dairy products went for roadhouse and cabaret parties was indicated by Danziger's testimony. He described several outings, attended by officials of the city milk inspection staff, at which women were gorged.

Both of these youths were reared in Atlanta and they had large numbers of friends here.
